UNIVERSAL PRECAUTIONS

Universal precautions are the primary components of infectious disease control and should be used to prevent the spread of contagious infections. “Universal precautions” means treating certain body fluids of ALL people as potentially infectious and to routinely use appropriate barriers. These barriers include hand washing, gloves, gowns and face masks.

Universal precautions apply to all contagious human body fluids. The Arc Montgomery County’s policies state that blood, semen and vaginal secretions are considered contagious and universal precautions should be used. Body fluids to which universal precautions do not apply include urine, feces, tears, sweat, vomit, sputum, nasal secretions and saliva (except when any one of these contains blood).

- Hand washing is the first line of defense against infectious diseases. Hands should be washed before and after assisting children or adults with personal needs or when tending to sickness or injury.
- Gloves should be worn if there is likelihood of exposure to blood or other contagious fluids. Cuts, abrasions or other open areas on the skin should be covered, and gloves should be worn when dressing these areas.
- Spills of blood should be cleaned promptly with a solution of household bleach, made daily with 1 part bleach to 9 parts water. This should be available at the volunteer site.

I have received and read the handout on universal precautions and infectious disease control. I understand the precautions and procedures outlined and will follow these procedures to the best of my ability while volunteering with The Arc Montgomery County.
